A Male Chauvinist
Following the trend of the times, the Florida House of Representatives has voted in favor of a bill outlawing discrimination based on sex. The lone vote against the bill was cast by Rep. Dave Smith. Explaining his stand, Rep. Smith said:

"I am a male chauvinist. I believe that women should be coddled, loved, kissed and hugged. I believe they should be honored, that doors should be opened for them, chairs pulled back for them and old fashioned grace be accorded them. They should be well-scrubbed and always smell sweet."

Rep. Bella Abzug of New York no doubt would shudder at such sentiments. Happily, plenty of people still are around who think Rep. Smith has exactly the right idea. —Charleston (S.C.) News and Courier

Ides of April

The enterprising Associated Press writer and his wife who took their tax returns to six different tax consultants and were given final results ranging from owing the government $77 more to having a refund of $377 now have a real problem.

They are figuring their return themselves. Just imagine how they'll feel if they come up with anything but a $377 refund. There'll always be that lingering doubt. —Birmingham (Ala.) News

A Do-It-Yourself

Just ordinary people who fume away at injustices but can't afford lawyers now have a good example of how satisfaction might be found by taking the small potatoes route.

A man in New Orleans was upset because airlines allowed smoking and he felt it could be harmful to the health of passengers. He took the small potatoes route and went into small claims court, asking for $25 in damages—that's right, just $25.

The man—Dr. Seth Goldsmith—says that as part of the settlement of his case against one airline, it has agreed to segregate smokers. Very encouraging. One man winning his point by himself. If this sort of thing caught on the ordinary people of this country could give Ralph Nader a well-earned and early retirement. —Anniston (Ala.) Star

Food Prices Jumped $23 in Month, Middleman Is Blamed

By DON KENDALL

AP Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of a typical family's yearly supply of food went up $23 last month. Middlemen who transport, prepare and sell the items got $18 of the boost, says the Agriculture Department.

Meat prices in particular were markedly higher, a consumer complaint the Nixon administration has publicly recognized. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally has summoned representatives of 12 of the nation's largest food chains to Washington to discuss higher prices Wednesday.

The 12 stores invited are the Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., Safeway, Kroger, Acme, National Tea Co., Jewel Cos. Inc., Lucky Stores, Inc., Grand Union Co., Allied Supermarket Inc., Supermarkets General Corp., First National Stores, Inc., and Stop and Shop Cos., Inc.

Farmers, mainly those who produce cattle and hogs, got a $5 increase in last month's market list, according to the report published Monday by the Economic Research Service. In all, the "market basket"—theoretically enough U.S. farm-grown food to supply the typical family for one year—rose to $1,297 last month.

That was $50 more than in November last year.

Compared with a year earlier, the report said, the price of the market basket averaged 6.5 per cent higher. In January the year earlier spread was 4.5 per cent.

Department economists have predicted grocery-store prices will increase about 4 per cent this year, compared with 2.4 per cent in 1971.

The gain in middleman food-price markups in February provided new ammunition for Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, who says farmers are not to blame for rising food costs.

Consumers are spending more for food, particularly meat. Sirloin steak in February averaged $1.54 per pound nationally, compared with $1.49 in January and $1.45 last December, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Hamburger, a faithful standby, was 73 cents a pound last month, up more than two cents since last January, the bureau said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposal for a moratorium on new busing orders for school desegregation and his chief spokesman for the plan have received their second grilling in a week on Capitol Hill.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Elliot L. Richardson told the House Education Committee Monday that "there is a real likelihood of a growing wave of protests in many communities" if new busing orders aren't blocked.

Richardson's testimony drew a generally hostile reaction from House committee members, as it did last week when he appeared before the Senate Education subcommittee.

Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., said: "This is the biggest shell game I've seen in my life, I swear to God." And Rep. John Brademas, D-Ind., angered Richardson when he questioned the integrity of the Nixon administration and of HEW.

"It's ITT time and time for the truth," Brademas said. Asked how the White House decided action is needed now when it has no hard data on the extent of busing for desegregation, Richardson said: "We are addressing a widely held

Communists Down Two Helicopters

SAIGON (AP) — Communist forces shot down two U.S. helicopters and one South Vietnamese helicopter, damaged two other American aircraft with ground fire, and attacked a ground rescue force, the U.S. Command disclosed today.

One U.S. crewman was killed and six were wounded. Twelve South Vietnamese in the ground rescue force were wounded as they led three of the American wounded to safety.

One of the engagements stretched from Sunday morning until midafternoon Monday, in the central highlands 21 miles northwest of Kontum.

It began when a South Vietnamese UH1 helicopter was shot down two miles east of Fire Support Base Charlie.

A U.S. UH1 command-and-control helicopter and an AH1 Cobra gunship were called in to help in the rescue, but both were hit by enemy ground fire and forced to fly back at rear bases. One crewman in the Cobra was wounded.

Meanwhile, a South Vietnamese paratrooper company had moved to the crash site to help secure the downed helicopter and protect the crew.

On Monday, a second U.S. UH1 assisting the rescue effort was shot down 100 yards from the downed South Vietnamese helicopter. The pilot was killed and three crewmen wounded, the command reported.

The South Vietnamese paratroopers pulled the American crewmen from the burning wreckage, but returning to Fire Base Charlie they were hit with small arms fire.

national concern."

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.H., said the administration bill purports "to turn back the desegregation progress of the last 18 years," and Rep. Shirley Chisholm, D-N.Y., told the secretary busing is not the primary issue, but the administration is "stirring up a hornet's nest."

Asked how the White House decided action is needed now when it has no hard data on the extent of busing for desegregation, Richardson said: "We are addressing a widely held

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation recorded its second highest merchandise trade deficit in history last month, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said the value of imports exceeded exports by $597.6 million in February, the figure topped only by the $821.4 million trade deficit last October.

At the same time, the department said its list of leading economic indicators increased in February for the eighth straight month. But the increase last month was 0.5 per cent, the smallest gain in five months.

The index of the indicators tend to foreshadow future movements in the economy. The indicators have shown strong increases in recent months.

The trade deficit adds to the nation's balance-of-payments deficit and affects the stability of the dollar.

The department said it wasn't exactly sure why the deficit reached such a magnitude in February. It said the West Coast dock strike probably influenced both exports and imports but, by how much, it does not know.

Wants Counties Reorganized

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Executive Committee of the state Young Democrats Club has adopted a resolution endorsing the proposed constitutional amendment of the Association of Arkansas Counties that would reorganize county government.

The committee offered support to the petition campaign to place the proposed amendment on the November general election ballot.

Republican Leader Hugh Scott and Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., told a news conference Monday the Judiciary Committee hearings have turned into "a political circus" and should be halted.

Hruska is the committee's ranking minority member.

Scott criticized four committee Democrats who have vigorously questioned administration witnesses. The GOP leader called them the "four horsemen" of Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien and accused them of carrying out O'Brien's "hatchet work."

Scott's targets were Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., John V. Tunney, D-Calif., Birch Bayh, D-Ind., and Philip A. Hart, D-Mich.

Despite the Republican urging, there was no indication the four would agree to cut off the probe.

An aide to Hart said the senator feels the hearings should continue because "to drop them at the moment would strike a blow at public confidence in government."

Aides to Kennedy and Bayh said those senators, too, want the questioning to go on. Tunney and his aides could not be reached for comment.

At least one more day of testimony is assured because ITT president Harold S. Geneen is scheduled to appear before the committee Wednesday.

Thousands Protest, Ireland Paralyzed

By COLIN FROST
Associated Press Writer
BELFAST (AP) — Thousands of angry Protestants converged on Northern Ireland's parliament today to protest Britain's take over of power in the strike-paralyzed province.

Fifty-one years of Protestant rule in the North ends today with the parliament's formal adjournment and one year suspension, ordered by British Prime Minister Edward Heath in a bid to end 32-months of Catholic-Protestant strife.

The demonstrators, led by right-wing Ulster Vanguard chief William Craig, massed before the parliamentary seat at Stormont Castle outside Belfast.

Many of the marchers were strikers who responded to Craig's call for two days of mass industrial paralysis to demonstrate anger at the British government's move and London's appointment of William Whitelaw as secretary of state for Northern Ireland.

On the second day of the strike, electricity was rationed and in some country areas, housewives were using camp stoves to cook.

Some water filtration plants were closed and drinking water had to be boiled.

There was a severe bread shortage and no milk was delivered in Belfast and other cities this morning.

Firemen joined the strike but police stayed on the job.

The strike shut down all Northern Ireland newspapers except for the Roman Catholic Irish Press. Most news vendors refused to handle Dublin and London papers.

Amid the Protestant fury, there were reports the British takeover was forging a united front between outgoing Unionist Prime Minister Brian Faulkner, Craig and another right-wing leader, the Rev. Ian Paisley.

There was no official comment on the speculation but leading Unionists, including Faulkner, have pledged not to cooperate with Whitelaw or the commission which will help him rule the North.

The British Parliament is enacting a bill transferring Stormont's power to Whitelaw.

Business, production and traffic were paralyzed and thousands of homes blacked out on the first day of the strike Monday.

More than half of Northern Ireland's 450,000 workers walked off the job. Tens of thousands attended protest rallies sponsored by the militant Ulster Vanguard Movement.

The Belfast branch of the Confederation of British Industry estimated the work stoppages would cost up to $10.4 million in lost production.

Groups of Protestant youths skirmished with British soldiers and Roman Catholics in outbreaks of stone-throwing. It was the first time in more than a year that Protestants had attacked British troops.

Protestant vigilantes took control of the small town of Portadown, in County Armagh, barricading roads with hijacked vehicles, cutting off a small Catholic enclave and stoning some Catholic homes.

Tornadoes, Hail Hit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Tornadoes, hail, thunderstorms and damaging winds swept across Arkansas Monday night, causing some minor property damage, but no injury was reported.

Tornadoes were sighted at Little Rock, north of Jacksonville, Forrest City and Rohwer (Desha County).

A house was torn from its foundation, a trailer was wrecked and power lines and trees were toppled at Rohwer, which is about 10 miles north-east of McGehee.

State Police said it appeared that both the house and trailer were vacant at the time the tornado hit. Apparently none of the other tornadoes touched down except the one southwest of Little Rock, which dipped down momentarily near the Ironton community. No damage was reported, however.

Much of the state was under some sort of weather alert most of the night.

Hail, some reported as large as baseballs, accompanied the thunderstorms that barged through southern and central portions of the state.

One observer at Paragould said there was so much hail that it looked as though the ground was covered by snow.

The severe weather preceded a cold front that was stalled in the southwest Monday. The thunderstorms started in the southwestern part of the state about mid-afternoon and advanced toward the east and northeast.

Soledad Brothers Are Released

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "There was no case against them," juror John Callahan said of the Soledad Brothers. "Everybody who testified against them was bought."

Callahan, an airline ticket agent, made the comment Monday after an all-white jury returned an innocent verdict, 26 months after white guard John Mills was killed at Soledad Prison.

Callahan's reference was to a defense contention that four main prosecution witnesses were convicts who were promised consideration for their testimony against fellow inmates Fleeta Drumgo and John Clutchette.

The prosecution denied it. Drumgo, 26, and Clutchette, 28, both blacks in for burglary, were charged with Mills' murder along with George Jackson, 33, a convicted robber.

After the verdict was read, Superior Court Judge S. Lee Vawter told the court: "Most of you have doubted the system."

"But you now know it really works, and if anyone can come up with a better system, I'd like to see it. The 12 jurors have spoken."

Drumgo, Clutchette and Jackson became known as the Soledad Brothers—although unrelated—partly because Jackson had written a book on blacks and the prison system which became an underground best-seller. Their cause was taken up by critics and dissidents across the country.

One was black militant Angela Davis. She is on trial accused of plotting and providing guns in connection with the Aug. 21, 1970 shootout at the Marin County Civic Center in which four persons were killed. The state charges that five hostages taken during the shootout were intended to force release of the Soledad Brothers. Jackson was killed last Aug. 21 at San Quentin Prison while awaiting trial. Prison authorities said he was running toward a 20-foot wall in an escape attempt when he was shot by a guard. In the same incident, three white guards and two white prisoners in the maximum security unit were slain. Drumgo is among six convicts charged with those murders.

Drumgo and Clutchette came to trial here last Dec. 21 on a change of venue from Monterey County. In the 13 weeks of testimony and evidence, the prosecution charged the Clutchette and Drumgo had helped Jackson beat up Mills and toss his body through the railing of a third-floor cell tier to a concrete floor below.

Both testified they were not even at the scene. Their defense attorneys argued that Mills could have been killed by almost any convict because word had just reached the prison that a grand jury had ruled the death of three black prisoners at the hands of a white guard three days before was justifiable homicide.

Approves Social Security Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee has voted unanimous approval of a proposal that would raise minimum Social Security payments for every aged person who has paid into the system for at least 30 years to $200 a month. For married couples the figure would be $300.

The measure adopted Monday would substantially close the gap between benefits for people who have worked many years at low-paying jobs and those for people who have contributed to the system at maximum levels and therefore receive maximum benefits.

It represents a major shift in emphasis away from the principle that recipients should get back from the system in proportion to the amount they earned—and contributed—during their working years.

Finance Committee Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., said present payments for a person with 30 years in a minimum-wage job covered by Social Security run about $133 a month. The new legislation, if enacted, would raise that about $67 a month to a new total only $16 below the present $216 maximum.

The maximum is expected to be increased 10 to 15 per cent before action on the Social Security bill is completed, but the gap would still be relatively narrow—probably in the neighborhood of $30.

The theory of nearly equal benefits for all is not new, but the system in the past has always given more weight to the principle that recipients should receive benefits in proportion to their contributions.

The new proposal is an attempt to provide ample monthly payments to retired low-income workers without giving big raises to people who get Social Security but have other sources of income and don't depend on the federal benefits as much.

Long said the new bill would affect about 340,000 people at an immediate cost of $110 million a year, with the long-range price tag estimated at about $1.5 billion a year.

That is considerably more than the bill already passed by the House to raise minimum monthly benefits to $150 for individuals and $225 for couples.

The formula approved by the Senate committee would give a person a minimum of $10 a month in benefits for every year worked in covered employment in excess of 10 years. A person with 20 years in covered employment would receive $100, one with 25 years $150 and one with 30 years $200.

In each case the spouse's benefits would add 50 per cent.

The Nixon administration recommended a 5-per-cent across-the-board increase, the same as that voted last year by the House. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, recently called for a 20-per-cent increase.

Says Alcoholics Can Be Taught to Drink Socially

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Alcoholics can be taught to drink without getting drunk, according to Johns Hopkins medical researchers at City Hospitals.

The researchers argue in an article to be published soon in a British journal that the idea an alcoholic can't stop after the first drink is false.

Nineteen chronic alcoholic volunteers were asked to limit their drinking to no more than five ounces a day, even though 24 ounces were within easy reach.

Based on experiments over the past few years, the researchers reported the alcoholics controlled their drinking 76.6 per cent of the time. Faced with the choice, others did not drink at all.

The treatment technique requires establishment of a "token economy," a situation in which a patient is rewarded or penalized according to his behavior, said Dr. Mariam Cohen who initially directed the project in 1968. It had since been taken over by Dr. George Bigelow.

Success in the City Hospitals experiments has led researchers to believe the techniques may be applied to help alcoholics now considered beyond treatment.

The article by Dr. Louis A.

Faillace and Dr. Ira Liebson, to be published in Behavior Research and Therapy magazine, said the 19 patients were given access to as much as 24 ounces of bourbon. Some were told they could drink all they wanted without consequences. Others were told that consumption above five ounces a day would bring revocation of privileges.

The article said a key to the process was that reward of punishment immediately followed the behavior it was meant to enforce or discourage.

The alcoholics drank excessively only 9.7 per cent of the time when faced with a limit, though they drank excessively almost always when there was no limit imposed, the researchers found.

Jail Break Attempt Delays Davis Trial

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — A prisoner holding a female clerk and a sheriff's deputy hostage at knife-point attempted to escape Tuesday from the Santa Clara County Jail, deputies said.

At least one person was injured but no inmates escaped, said Lt. Don Tamm.

Dozens of officers were surrounding the two-story jail building which houses the sheriff's department and the area is "well secured," Tamm said.

The main jail is about 200 feet away from the county court building where the Angela Davis murder-kidnap trial was about to resume. The trial was delayed until after 1 p.m. Miss Davis' chief attorney, Howard Moore Jr., said he "probably would ask" Judge Richard Arnason to adjourn the day's court session.

Five local schools were entered sometime over the past weekend and the thieves took various items, none of very much value.

Yesterday Hope City Police picked up three youths in connection with the burglaries and most of the items have been recovered.

Deputy Prosecuting Attorney said the three are juveniles and all are white. The investigation continues.

Hussein, Nixon Talk

By ENDRE MARTON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan meets with President Nixon today to explain the significance of his plan to transform his Middle Eastern kingdom into a federated state.

The Western-oriented monarch is also expected to ask for continued U.S. economic and military aid for his country. Middle East specialists here predict he will not leave empty-handed.

Hussein's visit, his fifth since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war and third since Nixon became president, is described as strictly private. In addition to his appointment with the President, the king will lunch with Secretary of State William P. Rogers and return to the White House for a dinner with Nixon.

Hussein might elicit an American reaction to his proposal for a semi-autonomous Palestinian state on the West Bank, now occupied by Israel. Since the king disclosed his plan in a speech March 15, U.S. officials have declined any comment on it. Nor has there been a response from the pro-Arab Soviet Union, despite noisy denunciations of the Hussein proposal in several Arab capitals.

Silence should not be interpreted as approval, some officials say privately. They acknowledge, however, that Hussein's initiative at least represents some movement in an otherwise-frozen situation.

Informants say the United States had no part in the preparation of the proposal and was not informed of it officially before the monarch spoke.

Military aid to Jordan, suspended when Hussein ignored Washington's advice and went to war against Israel in 1967, was resumed in the fall of 1970 after the king defeated the Palestinian guerrillas in Jordan and their Syrian supporters.

Under a supplemental appropriation voted by Congress in December of that year, Jordan has received $30 million, and the current fiscal-year budget provides for a $45-million grant to Jordan. The administration is asking for $40 million for the coming fiscal year.

The Nixon administration recommended a 5-per-cent across-the-board increase, the same as that voted last year by the House. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, recently called for a 20-per-cent increase.

Renews Reform Plea

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's renewed plea for quick Senate action on his welfare-reform plan has encouraged some backers, but several key senators rate the bill's prospects as uncertain.

Many supporters long have predicted the plan would be defeated in the Finance Committee and that chances of restoring it in floor debate then would be about 50-50. They said they saw no change in these odds after Nixon's appeal Monday.

And Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., Finance chairman, said he remains strongly opposed to it.

Long, who many say has the committee votes necessary to drop the plan from the House-passed Social Security-welfare-reform bill, has been preparing a substitute which would eliminate the two key features of the Nixon proposal. These are the $2,400 minimum guaranteed income for a family of four and cash payments for the first time to the working poor.

The substitute would stress work requirements and tie future welfare payments to the recipient's willingness to take a job.

In his special message, Nixon called the plan "the most important single piece of social legislation to have come before Congress in several decades."

The President said the welfare situation has become "a social and political time bomb."

Nixon plugged hard for payments to the working poor, a feature that has come under particular fire from conservative Republicans on the

Still Ponders Entering School Case at Memphis

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The U. S. Justice Department may still intervene in the Memphis school desegregation case, but probably not until the completion of federal court hearings.

Sen. William E. Brock, R-Tenn., had called for the intervention Saturday, asking the department to do as it did in the Detroit desegregation case.

However, with the hearing before U. S. Dist. Court Judge Robert M. McRae Jr., set for 9:30 a.m. today, the department refused any immediate action.

It based its stance on the fact that McRae last week denied a request from the Memphis Board of Education to postpone his hearing until Congress could act on anti-busing proposals initiated by President Nixon.

"We understand that a motion has already been presented in the Memphis case to defer proceedings based on the president's policy and legislation sent to Congress and that the court denied the motion. We see no basis to seek to intervene in that," said John Wilson, a public information officer at the Justice Department.

However, Wilson did not rule out the possibility of the department entering the case eventually.

"As acting Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst said in the briefing last week, we're taking a look at all pending school cases. This would include Memphis. Once the court makes its findings, we would take a look at it," Wilson said.

Sen. Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn., who was in contact with Justice Department officials Monday, said he was confident that the department will join in the case.

McRae has received a variety of proposed desegregation plans, mainly from the city school board.

The most limited of the plans, one of many from the board, would call for the busing of 13,789 students to achieve racial balance.

A plan proposed by the Memphis Chapter of the NAACP would require 61,530 pupils to travel to class by bus.

Hawaiians Take to Water to Solve Mass Transit Problem

By WILLIAM HELTON

Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — Taking their cues from such cities as Venice and Amsterdam, Hawaiians are taking to the water to solve their monumental mass transit problems.

They're talking about connecting the islands with a ferry system, sending passenger ships along the coast and lacing old Honolulu with canals over whose waters would skim hovercraft with minibuses full of people.

There will be no gondoliers but plenty of coffee and newspapers aboard when the 500-passenger ship Hawaii begins operating April 3 between the residential community of Ewa, west of Pearl Harbor, and the Aloha Tower in downtown Honolulu, bypassing one of Oahu's worst traffic snarls.

The firm of Kentron Hawaii will operate the ship, which for a dollar will take Ewa residents over seven miles of water to their downtown jobs in 40 minutes, said Kentron researcher Ralph Patterson. It would take a motorist an hour to make the trip over 22 miles of roads.

The Hawaii may be only a first step. Dr. John P. Craven, the state's marine affairs coordinator, has suggested a canal system as an alternative to a proposed $500-million fixed rail system for Honolulu.

In an interview, Craven said his canal system would cost $150 million, would be less damaging to the environment and could move passengers at 50 miles per hour, even up the canals—about as fast as a fixed rail system.

"It's simply a matter of deepening streams that already exist and building three miles of new canals," he said. Craven added that the Boeing hydrofoil he proposes to use already meets emission and noise standards set by California for 1972.

About 40 of these 250-passenger hydrofoils would be the backbone of the system. They would glide along Honolulu's coast, dropping off passengers at such spots as Pearl Harbor, Honolulu International Airport, the site of a football stadium now under construction and Waikiki.

The passengers would then board 40-passenger minibuses, three of which would sit aboard a Bell hovercraft as it cruised up a canal to major points of interest. The minibuses would carry passengers to their final destinations.

Chaplain's Wife—No Complaints on Sex

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)

— The wife of Navy Chaplain Andrew F. Jensen said their sex life stayed on an even keel over the past two years, a period during which two officers' wives have charged they were having affairs with Jensen.

Kathleen Jensen testified Monday at her husband's court-martial on a charge of misconduct by adultery that her sex life didn't deteriorate even after she learned she was in her change of life.

Mrs. Jensen, 40, was to continue on the stand today under cross-examination by Lt. Ralph B. Levy.

On Monday Mrs. Jensen accounted for some of the 17 occasions Mary Ann Curran, 24, said she spent alone with Jensen and two of the four Lora Gudbranson, 40, said she was with the chaplain.

On Tuesday Jan. 26, 1971, Mrs. Jensen testified she spent the afternoon with her husband in a motel.

"I watched soap operas and wrote letters while my husband rested," she said.

Mrs. Curran had testified she spent that afternoon with Jensen at the same motel.

On May 18, 1971, the day Mrs. Gudbranson testified she held sexual relations with Jensen for the first time, Mrs. Jensen said she talked with her husband by telephone twice that afternoon at the hospital and sent a woman there to see him about counseling.

Mrs. Jensen also cited a number of other occasions that she was with her husband—in instances when Mrs. Curran and Mrs. Gudbranson said the chaplain was with them.

The chaplain's wife put a new light on love notes and cards Mrs. Curran testified Jensen gave to her.

Examining the evidence, Mrs. Jensen identified most of them as her property which disappeared from a bedroom of their quarters at Cecil Field Naval Air Station.

She said Mrs. Curran stayed in that room April 5, 6 and 7 when her husband was in Virginia on a volleyball trip.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. THOMAS E. FOSTER

Miss Charlotte Ann Nave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Nave of Corsicana, Texas, and Thomas E. Foster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Autrey Foster, exchanged marriage vows Saturday, March 25 at 10 a.m. in Cox Chapel Highland Park Methodist Church, Dallas, Texas, with the Rev. Kenneth Dickinson officiating.

The bride wore a gown of ivory crepe fashioned with a mandarin neckline and jeweled with floral appliques of snowbirds and pearls accented with demi pearl loops. The appliques were repeated on the cuffed bishop sleeves. A self band, braided with pearls, encircled the empire, flowing in long back streamers. Soft gathers gave ease to the floor-length skirt. She wore ivory silk flowers in her hair, accented with loops and streamers of satin ribbon extending to the length of her gown.

Miss Glenda Nave of Dallas, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown designed with a mandarin neckline and cuffed bishop sleeves. A braided band encircled the empire.

Autrey Foster served his son as best man. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held in the Fairmont Hotel in Dallas.

The bride is a graduate of Texas Tech University with a B.B.A. degree, and she is a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She is employed by IBM.

The groom was graduated from Southern Methodist University with a B.B.A. degree in 1963 and an M.B.A. degree in 1967. There he joined Beta Theta Pi fraternity and the Calyx Club. He is presently serving as vice-president of the Republic National Bank of Dallas.

After a wedding trip to San Francisco and Lake Tahoe, the newlyweds will be at home at 6347 Melody Lane in Dallas.

Senior Citizens Meet

The Senior Citizens Club met Wednesday, March 22 for luncheon at the Douglas Building. The president, Mrs. N.F. Burns, opened the meeting by reading Romans 5:1-11 and a poem, "Enough."

March is Senior Citizens Nutrition Month, and Dolores McBride, Extension Home Economist, presented a program on Nutrition. She demonstrated making two dishes using ground beef, and they were served later with other dishes to 12 members and the guest, Miss McBride.

Easter lilies decorated the dining area, and Mrs. Pearl Brandon won the door prize. The next meeting will be on April 12 at 1:30 p.m.

Melrose Club Meets

On Tuesday, March 14 the Melrose Extension Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Vera Gough, and all joined in singing "My Wild Irish Rose." The president, Mrs. Ola Smith gave the Thought of the Month.

Mrs. A.C. Kirby read Matt. 5:3-10 for the devotion, and the Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. Mrs. Perry Henley gave the eye-opener and taught the lesson. Also taking part on the program were Mesdames: Ola Smith, W.A. Powell, Hazel Wright. Mrs. Lyle Allen reported on a recent trip to Magnolia for an area meeting.

Mrs. Virgie Robertson won the Door Prize. Four new members welcomed to the club were Mesdames: Delmer Wright, Marvin Arterbury, H.L. Waters and Virgil Campbell. Secret Pals remembered Mrs. Vera Gough on her birthday and Mrs. Lyle Allen on her wedding anniversary. The Rev. and Mrs. A.C. Kirby were given a vase of roses by the club because of recent illness and sorrow in their family.

The Homemaker's Prayer was offered to bring the meeting to its conclusion. Chocolate cake was served with coffee or lemonade to 11. The meeting on April 11 will be in the home of Mrs. Virgie Robertson.

Mrs. Gary Don Formby, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor and the brides only attendant. She wore a floor length gown of nylon organza over taffeta in shades of pink and rose. She wore a picture hat of the same shade and carried a pink glamelia with rose streamers.

Donald Bona of Little Rock served as the groom's best man.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a floor length gown of white satin with a Victorian silhouette, Juliet sleeves and A-line skirt. The bodice was of English lace and satin with yoke enhanced with re-embroidered alencon lace. The wedding ring neckline was edged with lace and embroidered with aurora and pearls. The sleeves had shoulder cuffs bordered with scallops of lace motifs. The hemline was also scalloped. The scattered motifs about the gown were jeweled. The chapel length train fell from a high waist line and also had motifs of lace. The shoulder length veil of illusion cascaded from a white Juliet cap enhanced with white lace and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white stephanosis and white roses centered with an orchid.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Formby chose a dress of aqua knit with matching accessories. Mrs. Blasingame, the groom's mother, wore a dress of pastel yellow knit with matching accessories. Both wore cymbidium orchids.

After the ceremony a receiving line was formed in the church foyer where Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Franks received the guests and introduced them to the receiving line.

Mrs. Ronnie Ingram presided at the bride's book where a white memory candle burned.

After a trip the couple will be at home in Little Rock. The bride is the granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. C. Camp of Patmos.

The groom is the grandson of Mrs. Elsie Burton and the late Edgar Hook of Little Rock.

Among the out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Nevin Morgan Jr. and family of Shreveport, Mr. and Mrs. William Nat Butcher, Dr. and Mrs. Gary Darwin, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Purdy, Dr. and Mrs. Joe Pabian, Mr. and Mrs. Alonza Camp, Miss Connie Kinmamon, and Miss Connie Purdy all of Little Rock, and Mrs. Buddie Jordan, Miss Bennie Sue Norris, and Miss Beth Lawrence of Dallas.

Bridge Club Play
Pansies and camellias graced the home of Mrs. C.C. Lewis on March 24, when a local Friday Bridge Club met there. In addition to the club members, Mrs. Roy Wilson and Mrs. F.R. Moses were also guests. High scorers were Mrs. Louise Kalin and Mrs. R.E. Cooper. For refreshments strawberry shortcake and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. A.L. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. David Edwards and two children, all of Mena, were the weekend guests of Mrs. Billy F. Brown and two sons.

Mrs. Homer Stone of Hope and Mrs. Richard Stone and son, Marcus, of Greenville, Texas went to Augusta, Georgia to attend the graduation of Lt. Richard Stone from the S.O.B.C. Ft. Gordon, Georgia.

Lt. Stone was commissioned August, 1969, and is now serving with the 67th Signal Battalion, Ft. Gordon.

Bullfighting Season

By FENTON WHEELER
MADRID (AP) — Another bullfighting season has begun in Spain but what's in store for the future seems uncertain for all but the bulls.

They, of course, by tradition must die. Before the season ends next fall, more than 13,000 of them will have been dragged from the nation's bullrings.

Their year, if they can be said to have one, is expected in 1973 when a new law takes effect requiring fighting bulls to be at least 4 years old. The bulls still will be killed—law requires it—but the theory is they should be able to make a better fight of it.

This season's outlook, however, for tourists, bullfighters, managers and breeders is less optimistic.

Spain's No. 1 bullfighter, Manuel Benitez, "El Cordobes," has announced his retirement. A mainstay at drawing crowds, especially tourists, El Cordobes has changed the style of modern bullfighting. His retirement, if it sticks, is expected to damage both revenue and spectator interest.

Two other good draws, Santiago Martin, "El Viti," and veteran Antonio Ordenez also have given up. But it is the retirement of El Cordobes, a millionaire at 35, that is expected to hurt the most. He says he may turn to acting.

Some bullfight critics have implied El Cordobes was motivated to retire by the new law, pointing out that a 4-year-old bull is far bigger, wiser and stronger than the animals on which El Cordobes rode, sometimes literally, to fame.

Bullfight authorities, prodded by a nationwide press and television campaign, also have promised to crack down on breeders and managers who shave the bulls' horns or force feed them.

Cynics say they have heard all this before and the season will depend on how well matadors can fill El Cordobes' shoes—or wipe away the popularity of his flamboyant style.

Whatever the result, there will be more than 600 bullfights, 100 serious injuries, perhaps a death or two and about seven million fans who pay to see the country's "national fiesta." But the real problem, say the experts, is that this represents less than a third of the number of Spaniards who pay to watch professional soccer.

Rupp Out at Kentucky, May Go Into Politics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The grand old man of college basketball, Adolph Rupp, has just one more day to decide whether to try for a new title: Congressman Rupp.

But Rupp was keeping his plans under tight wraps this morning.

The clerk at the downtown Tuscaloosa, Ala., motel where Rupp was staying after addressing a University of Alabama basketball banquet, said the 70-year-old coach had left instructions "not to be disturbed under any circumstances."

Rupp's 42-year career as University of Kentucky basketball coach will end June 30. UK President Otis Singletary made that announcement late Monday night after an emergency meeting of the university's Athletics Association Board.

Singletary told newsmen that Rupp's retirement has been certain for some time, and that the meeting was called to "clarify" the issue. He said the university's "established retirement policy will be followed" in Rupp's case. An eight-year-old regulation makes retirement mandatory at age 70.

Earlier in the evening, before the board announced its final decision, Rupp told a reporter, "whatever the university decides is fine with me. I'm not going out on a discordant note."

On Sunday, Rupp announced that if he couldn't continue as UK coach then he would file as a congressional candidate. The deadline for filing is Wednesday.

Asked Monday night if he still planned to run, Rupp said, "You bet your life I'm going to. I've won 83 per cent of everything I've gotten into. I'm the only one in this race that knows anything about agriculture, and we've got an agricultural district."

Rupp would be the fourth Democrat in the race to succeed 6th District Congressman William Curlin Jr., who announced Friday he would not seek re-election.

Known as the "man in the brown suit," Rupp coached Kentucky teams to 879 victories during his 42 years on the Wildcat bench. His teams won more games than those of any other college coach in history.

Meanwhile, the university has not selected a new basketball coach.

A five-man committee, headed by Dr. N.J. Pisano of the UK faculty, was named to consider and recommend concerning the appointment of a head basketball coach "as promptly as possible."

Hitters Have No Respect

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a bad day for Cy Young winners Monday in baseball's spring training camps.

As a matter of fact, the hitters didn't have too much respect for a couple of good pitchers, either.

The Cleveland Indians defeated the Oakland A's and former award winner Denny McLain 3-2, while Ferguson Jenkins was racked for seven straight hits and six runs in one inning, but his Chicago Cubs mates bounced back and beat San Diego 12-11.

Dick Drago, a 17-game winner last year for Kansas City, was hammered for six runs in the third inning as the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Royals 8-7. Dock Ellis, Pittsburgh's 19-game winner in 1971, was tagged for three runs in the fifth inning of that game.

Elsewhere in big league camps Monday, Philadelphia turned back Minnesota 4-3; Montreal beat Texas 5-2; the New York Mets trimmed Boston 4-0; Detroit stopped St. Louis 1-0; Milwaukee nipped California 7-5; the New York Yankees beat Atlanta 1-0, and Houston defeated Cincinnati 4-0.

McLain, obtained in a trade with Texas earlier this year, continued to be roughed up. He was bombed in a couple of earlier outings, and Monday gave up the winning run, on Eddie Leon's single, in the seventh inning.

After Drago got touched for six runs in the third inning, the Royals got their ace off the hook by tying Pittsburgh 7-7 with two runs in the seventh. But the Pirates broke the tie with an eighth inning run batted across by Dave Cash, who had his fourth straight hit.

The big second inning off

Jenkins gave San Diego a 7-0 lead. The Cubs then came back to win it as Don Kessinger climaxed a two-run rally with a tie-breaking single in the ninth. The contest was played despite a dust storm.

Ron Stone hit a two-strike pitch from Wayne Granger for a pinch home run in the bottom of the ninth, lifting Philadelphia over Minnesota.

Rich Hacker doubled twice and scored twice, leading Montreal over Texas as John Strohmayr, Denny Lemaster, Joe Gilbert and Ron Taylor combined on a five-hitter for the Expos.

Mike Jorgensen struck a grand slam home run in support of four-hit pitching by Charlie Williams and Tug McGraw, leading the Mets over the Red Sox.

Ed Brinkman's fifth-inning squeeze bunt, scoring Jim Northrup, broke up a scoreless duel and gave Detroit its triumph over St. Louis.

Derby Field Still a Question

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The field for Saturdays $100,000 Arkansas Derby at Oaklawn Park is still a question mark and the biggest unknown may be Great Bear Lake.

N.B. Hunt's Gallan Man colt is two for two in 1972—winning once in New York and once in Maryland—and is expected to run in the Arkansas Derby.

"The only thing that would keep him out of the race is if he got hurt," says Oaklawn Racing Secretary Allan W. "Doc" Lavin. "They're wondering what kind of horse he is. He's won both races convincingly."

"We might have the best 3-year-old in the country and not know it," Lavin said.

Lavin also said Great Bear Lake would benefit from the handling of Jorge Valesquez, "a terrific rider."

The quality of the prospective field went from "good to better" when Lavin learned that Roy E. Anderson's Spanish Riddle and Calumet Farm's Tarboosh appear likely to pass the entry box Thursday.

"Spanish Riddle looked like the second best horse in Florida until he threw in a bad race in the Flamingo," Lavin said. "Horses do that once in a while. Just like people they have their bad days."

Spanish Riddle was second in the Florida Derby to stablemate Upper Case.

Tarboosh, third in the Flamingo, was entered in the Louisiana Derby March 11 but did not run. Lavin says the colt probably would have finished much closer to Hold Your Peace in the Flamingo but reportedly was bothered by the winner.

Lavin at first thought Great Bear Lake and J.R. Strauss' No Le Haze, winner of the Louisiana Derby, would be the favorites Saturday. With the addition of Spanish Riddle and Tarboosh, Lavin says picking a favorite is impossible.

Harvey Peltier's coupling of Feloniously and Fame and Power, second and third in the Louisiana Derby, already have arrived at Oaklawn in preparation for the race.

Another possible invader is Thurlow Square, owned by W. C. Robinson Jr.

Gentle Smoke, owned by the Farous Stable, was being primed for the Arkansas Derby when he fractured a bone in his leg during a workout Saturday. He reportedly will be sidelined for several months.

Crimson King Farm's Whitesburg "jumped right in the middle of the derby picture" Saturday, drawing off to a 4½-length victory in an allowance race at Oaklawn.

Whitesburg defeated such derby possibilities as Our Trade Winds, Flying Drifter and U Pos Ent.

Until Saturday, Our Trade Winds, owned by Robert Mitchell and Hustlin' Greek, owned by Mrs. J. O'Bryant and Mrs. Rusty Belt, appeared to be the top derby contenders among the Oaklawn contingent.

Hustlin's Greek bypassed last week's race to concentrate on the derby. Trainer Robert Holthus said that although Our Trade Winds ran fourth to Whitesburg, he was not disappointed because of the off track.

Lavin expects a field of 15 to 18 for the derby.

Last year, the derby—then a $50,000 event—attracted a field of 20. Several of the 19 that started left from outside the starting gate. A six-stall auxiliary gate has been acquired, meaning a field of 20 could be accommodated.

Jabber, Thurmond Key in Playoff

By MIKE O'BRIEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee's depleted guard corps and Kareem Jabbar's matchup with Nate Thurmond aren't the only keys to the National Basketball Association playoff series opening tonight between the Bucks and Golden State Warriors.

Bucks Coach Larry Costello spoke of having to stop Clyde Lee and of needing a big game from John Block.

"Damned right Block could have a big role to play," Costello said, after putting the defending NBA champions through a near 90 minute workout Monday.

"I can't say we've had consistency this year, and John has probably been as inconsistent as anyone," Costello said. "We need a big contribution from him. Whenever we get one, we play well."

"Sometimes he's great. But some nights he's terrible. I just wish I could tell before I put him in."

The 6-foot-10 Block, the No. 1 reserve forward, came through with seven baskets in 11 attempts and 10 rebounds in 26 minutes when the Bucks broke the Los Angeles Lakers' record 33-game winning streak Jan. 9. But Block seldom has approached that form since, and in 60 minutes against Golden State during the regular season totaled only 12 rebounds and averaged 6.7 points.

The Bucks will start Bob Dandridge at forward opposite high scoring Cazzie Russell, with Curtis Perry on Lee, who has snared 73 rebounds in four games against Milwaukee.

But Block could see more duty than usual if Dandridge is needed at guard, an area where Milwaukee is questionable.

Lucius Allen has played brilliantly lately, but Oscar Robertson missed 17 of 23 games with a sore abdomen between Feb. 4 and last Friday, and is not expected to play as much as usual.

Jon McGlocklin is hospitalized with a back injury and Wally Jones sat out the last three games with a bruised thigh.

The Bucks compiled a 63-19 regular season record in winning the Midwest Division title a second straight year. But they were only 2-2 against the Warriors, who held the 7-foot-2 Jabbar to a 25.5 point average—well under his league leading mark of 34.8.

Lakers Are Seeking First Title

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

After dominating the regular season like no team ever has before, the Los Angeles Lakers begin the quest for their first National Basketball Association championship tonight, when they open their Western Conference semifinal playoff series against the Chicago Bulls in Los Angeles.

The Lakers set a host of team records during the regular season, which ended Sunday, but Coach Dick Motta of the Bulls is not conceding anything.

"We're not afraid of Los Angeles," Motta declared. "We know we have to be in peak form to beat them, but I think we're ready."

In the other Western Conference semifinal series which starts tonight, the Milwaukee Bucks begin defense of their league crown against the Golden State Warriors. The Bucks won the Midwest Division, title, while Golden State was runner-up to Los Angeles in the Pacific Division.

In the Eastern Conference semifinals, the Atlantic champion Boston Celtics host Central runner-up Atlanta Wednesday night, and the Baltimore Bullets, champions of the Central Division, host the New York Knicks, runners-up in the Atlantic Division, Friday.

All playoff series will be best four-of-seven.

During the regular season, the Lakers set league records with 69 victories; an .841 winning percentage; 36 wins at home; 31 wins on the road; 81 games scoring 100 points or more; 33 consecutive victories, and largest winning margin, 63 points, in a 162-99 victory over Golden State.

But the Lakers never have won an NBA crown. They've reached the final series seven times, only to lose each time.

Milwaukee's defending champions did not do all that badly in the regular season either. Their record of 63-19 was second only to Los Angeles' in the NBA.

Kareem Jabbar, Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 center who was the league's most valuable player for 1971-72 and won the scoring title with a 34.8 average, had some ominous words for Golden State.

"I'd like to think we're at a peak," Jabbar said. "I feel I am."

One of the nine teams which didn't make the playoffs, the Buffalo Braves, had two more losses Monday.

First the Braves lost a coin flip with the Portland Trail Blazers, the team with the poorest record in the Western Conference giving Portland the first pick in the upcoming draft of collegiate players. Buffalo will get second choice.

Then the Braves announced they had fired John McCarthy, who took over as coach of the team from Dolph Schayes after the first game of the season last fall. Buffalo won only 22 of its 82 games.

No replacement for McCarthy was announced, and general manager Eddie Donovan said, "We are taking our time finding a successor."

Didn't Know It Was Close

PARIS (AP) — "Man I didn't even know it was close," complained Willie "The Worm" Monroe after dropping a narrow split decision to Max Cohen of Paris in a 10-round midweight bout Monday night.

Monroe, 160 pounds, a Philadelphia stablemate of heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, had been unbeaten. He floored Cohen, 159 pounds, in the third round but tired in the late going. When the decision was announced, it drew a chorus of boos.

"In a town like this," said Yancey Durham, manager of the 22-year-old Monroe, "you've got to win precisely. We had Cohen going early, but then he didn't gamble enough."

Bobcats Rained Out

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Yesterday at Texarkana the Hope Bobcats were rained out of their contest with the Arkansas High Razorbacks.

With the score knotted at one each, the Bobcats had just taken the field in the bottom of the second inning when the rain began to pour.

Hope scored first in the opening inning when Paul Young reached first base on an error by Hog second baseman Mark Jeer. A third strike bobbie by the catcher enabled Young to advance to second and then with Young drawing attention on a ground ball, Tim White reached base safely.

With two outs, Mike Downs stroked a single to left field and as the ball got by the left fielder, Young raced home. A single by Bill Moore loaded the bases, but the Cats couldn't capitalize.

Arkansas High scored their run in the bottom half of the first inning when Jeer reached first, advanced to second on a bunt and scored on a single by David

Kapp Files Suit Against NFL

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Quarterback Joe Kapp, hero of the Minnesota Vikings' 1969 Super Bowl season, has filed a multimillion dollar antitrust conspiracy suit against all 26 National Football League teams and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The suit, filed Monday in U.S. District Court and assigned to Judge William T. Sweigert, says that the 33-year-old Kapp has been barred from professional football since his 1970 season with the New England Patriots because he refused to sign the standard NFL player contract.

Kapp is seeking millions of dollars in damages in a jury trial but the exact amount has not been determined. Antitrust laws provide that any damage award determined by a jury be tripled.

The standard players' contract, the suit alleged, gives Rozelle the "unlimited power to penalize a player for anything Rozelle sees fit and to bar him from his profession as a player."

The complaint said that Rozelle ordered the league to breach Kapp's $600,000 three-year contract with the Patriots. It further charges the league and team owners with monopolizing professional football through the player draft, the option, the Rozelle "ransom rule," the standard player contract and the black list.

Kapp played eight years of Canadian pro football after leading the California Bears to the Rose Bowl in 1969. In 1967 he signed a three-year $300,000 contract with Minnesota, and when his option expired in 1970 he signed the agreement with New England.

The suit says Rozelle forced the Patriots to surrender to Minnesota two consecutive No. 1 draft choices in exchange for signing Kapp—an example of what Kapp calls the "Rozelle ransom rule."

Happiness is...

Lynn Norton was on the mound for the Bobcats while Danny Freeman was hurling for the Hogs. Each team had two hits and one error apiece.

Next game scheduled for the Bobcats is not for over a week when they again host the Ouachita Warriors.

Statistics to Lakers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP) — In case there were any doubts, the final National Basketball Association regular season statistics released today indicate that 1971-72 was indeed the year of the Lakers.

Los Angeles set seven major team records en route to their 69-13 won-loss mark. What's more, two of their veteran stars, Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West, led in three of the five major individual statistical categories.

Kareem-Jabbar of Milwaukee, the league's Most Valuable Player, was the scoring leader with an average of 34.8 points per game and Jack Marin of Baltimore was No. 1 in free throw percentage at .894. Other than that, it was all Los Angeles.

Chamberlain, shooting less but winning more, led in two categories with a .649 field goal percentage and 19.2 rebounds per game. West noosed out player-coach Len Wilkins of Seattle with 9.7 assists per game.

Jabbar won his second straight scoring title with 2,822 points. Runner-up to the 7-foot-2 Jabbar was Nate Archibald of Cincinnati. The 6-1, 158-pound Archibald, who averaged 28.2, was followed by John Havlicek of Boston, 27.5; Seattle's Spencer Haywood, 26.2, and Gail Goodrich of the Lakers, 25.9.

The free throw title was the first in Marin's six-year pro career. Calvin Murphy of Houston was next at .890 and Goodrich was third at .850. Chamberlain sank 496 of 764 shots for his .649 goal percentage. The runner-up, Jabbar, took nearly three times as many shots, 2,019, and had a .574 percentage.

The 7-foot-1 Chamberlain grabbed 1,572 rebounds and had a wide margin over runner-up Wes Unseld of Baltimore, who had a 17.6 average.

Los Angeles headed the list in team offense, averaging 121.0 points per game. Chicago, runner-up to Milwaukee in the Midwest Division, led in defense, allowing 102.9 points per game.

By beating Seattle in the regular season finale Sunday night, Los Angeles finished with the most victories, 69, and best winning percentage, .841, in NBA history. The 1966-67 Philadelphia 76ers had the old marks, 68 victories and an .840 percentage.

The Lakers' 36 triumphs at home and 31 on the road—they won two games on neutral courts—also were league records.

Then there was the Lakers' 33-game winning streak, the longest in major professional team sports. In shattering the NBA mark of 20 set by Milwaukee last year, Los Angeles went two full months—from Nov. 5, 1971 to Jan. 7, 1972—without a loss.

Also, the Lakers scored 100 or more points in 81 of their 82 games, one more than the previous NBA high.

And finally, on March 19, the Lakers set a record for victory margin, bombing Golden State by 63 points, 162-99.

Says Angela Driven by Passion

By EDITH LEDERER
Associated Press Writer
SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Driven by passion to free her imprisoned lover, Angela Davis engineered a bloody escape attempt at the San Rafael Court-house, the prosecutor told a jammed courtroom in his opening statement at the start of her murder-kidnap-conspiracy trial.

Prosecutor Albert Harris Jr. claimed Monday that Miss Davis used her only face-to-face meeting with George Jackson "for a close, passionate and physical involvement."

He said there was such a close relationship between the 28-year-old UCLA philosophy instructor and the imprisoned Jackson, who was killed last August, that she "considered herself married to George Jackson."

Harris detailed the relationship and spelled out what the prosecution contends was Miss Davis' motive in helping plot the Aug. 7, 1970 shootout at the Marin County Civic Center in which a judge and three other persons were killed. The defense presents its opening statement today.

It could be delivered by Miss Davis, who is acting as her own co-counsel.

Harris vehemently denied that the case was a political frameup, as claimed by the defense, or that it is "an act of political persecution or racial persecution."

Instead, Harris said, Miss Davis, a black militant and an avowed Communist, participated in a conspiracy with George Jackson's younger brother, 17-year-old Jonathan, which was "simple but ingenious and very nearly successful."

"Her basic motivation was not to free political prisoners but to free the one prisoner that she loved—George Jackson," Harris said.

Jackson, who had gained fame as a prison author and as one of the three so-called "Solead Brothers," was killed in violence at San Quentin Prison Aug. 21, 1971. Three guards and two honor inmates were also killed in what prison authorities described as an abortive escape attempt by Jackson.

The two surviving Soledad Brothers, Fleeta Drumgo and John Clutchette, were found innocent Monday of the murder of a white Soledad Prison guard in January 1970.

Miss Davis is not charged with being present at the shootout, but under California law is subject to the murder, kidnap and conspiracy charges.

The defense claims she helped plot the raid on the courtroom of Superior Court Judge Harold Haley in an effort to gain hostages to bargain for the release of the Soledad Brothers.

Harris' three-hour opening statement detailed how guns were smuggled into Haley's courtroom by Jonathan Jackson during the trial of convict James McClain. When a shootout erupted during the escape attempt, Haley, Jonathan Jackson, McClain and another convict, William Christmas, were killed.

Cancer Drugs May Be Too Potent

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor
CLEARWATER BEACH, Fla. (AP) — In administering drugs to fight cancer, a little may be better than a lot, a cancer researcher says.

Big doses of powerful drugs seem to depress or weaken the natural defenses or immune mechanisms of the body.

So Dr. John H. Frenster of Stanford University School of Medicine is treating some patients with only one-third to one-half the dosages of drugs ordinarily given to cancer patients.

He hopes to cause less suppression of normal defenses, because suppression can rob the patient of benefits that might come from surgery, radiation or steps taken to boost the immune system.

Frenster told an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers on Monday that there are some promising signs from the first 11 patients treated with low dosages of three standard drugs in combination. The drugs were identified as cyclophosphamide, vincristine and 5-fluorouracil.

All the patients had widely disseminated cancer, beyond the help of surgery or radiation, which were clearly progressing. They had modules of cancer or other symptoms that could be measured objectively if benefits did come from drug treatment, and they met other criteria for the experiment.

Of the 11 treated for at least one month, seven showed objective regression of more than 50 per cent in one or more of the measurable signs of cancer activity, Frenster said.

Two showed a cessation of growth in cancer that had been growing steadily, while the cancers of two other patients kept progressing.

One woman has gone for more than seven months, showing regression of cancerous spots in the lung and becoming able to walk again.

The low doses of drugs seemed to allow the natural immune system to perform a bigger role in combating the cancer, Frenster said. The patients apparently also benefited from other steps taken to bolster the immune mechanism.

The study is being expanded.

Limited Tax Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hopes have been stirred for a limited tax-reform bill this year, helping single persons who long have claimed discrimination and married couples caught in a new quirk of the law.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee opened up this possibility Monday, while still appearing to stand firm against fellow Democrats' demands for a general loophole-closing measure this election year.

Mills announced a one-day committee hearing April 10 on what he called "the related problems of the tax treatment of single persons and the tax treatment of married persons where both the husband and wife are working."

A provision of the 1969 tax-reform act intended to benefit low-and moderate-income single persons has resulted in imposing on some married couples what critics call a "sin tax."

In certain brackets, a working couple pays more tax than would two single persons with the same incomes. Critics say the provision is a financial incentive to divorce and living together without marriage.

Mills acknowledged at a news conference Monday that the 1969 act had created "some discriminations we were not aware of at the time." He said he hopes Congress can correct them this year, but he made no promises. Single persons generally are taxed at higher rates than married persons where only one partner has income, although the disparity was reduced by the 1969 act. Several measures intended to wipe out the difference entirely have since been introduced.

Mills announced the hearing at a news conference also attended by some leaders of a drive to improve the tax status of single people.

But when he was asked about the possibility of general loophole-closing legislation, Mills indicated the committee would not get to it this year.

No Miracle Cure for Arthritis

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — I am suffering from rheumatoid spondylitis. I am a male, 30 years old, and have been suffering with this for almost two years. I am in constant discomfort. I thought this affliction was always of the bone joints, but I experience a lot of muscular soreness, especially through the shoulders. My spine hurts the entire length, reaching my left hip joint. The pain in the spine is most evident when I arch my back or twist the body trunk. I do exercises and this seems to keep me limber, but over-exercising will make me feel worse in the long run.

The physician has me on medication and this seems to help the inflamed hot feeling in my back but it tends to make me constantly tired and without energy. He says he will put me on cortisone if I want to try it, but hasn't pushed the medication, and I haven't tried it.

Will you please explain what this arthritis is and what methods are available for treatment. Am I doomed at this early age to a life of constant discomfort and possible stiffening of my back?

Dear Reader — Rheumatoid spondylitis is a form of rheumatoid arthritis of the spine. It most often affects young males and frequently begins in the latter teens. The initial complaints often involve back pain, perhaps less severe than what you are now experiencing and often there is no X ray evidence of disease and most of the laboratory tests used in diagnosing arthritis may be negative.

With normal laboratory, X ray or physical findings in young, apparently healthy men, it is easy to understand why these victims are often accused of malingering when they first complain of their illness. Since this strikes the age group that is commonly involved in military duty, it is a persistent problem in the armed services. It is difficult to tell whether back pain is due to anxiety, emotional stress and other factors, or whether it is really the beginning of rheumatoid spondylitis.

Later X ray changes are seen in the joints between the sacral portion of the lower spine and the iliac portion of the pelvis bone, hence it is referred to as sacroiliac arthritis.

It can and does cause trouble along the entire spine. At first the pain may be restricted to the low back and the hip, but as time goes on it is common for it to involve the rest of the spine. It also will affect the joints where the ribs join the spine. Pain in the shoulders of the type you complain of is a common feature of the disorder.

The treatment of this form of arthritis is much the same as for rheumatoid arthritis, including special exercise and modified living habits. Pain can often be relieved with aspirin (because of its salicylate content) and as an all around medicine it is probably the best. Cortisone can give relief from pain but may cause complications and has been disappointing.

There are no miracle cures, but some people have remissions and it is possible that you may have long periods free of symptoms.

Eight Records Are Broken

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Eight National Basketball Association records fell to the Los Angeles Lakers during their regular season, yet Coach Bill Sharman would relinquish all for a successful playoff campaign.

That big test starts tonight at the Forum when the Lakers, leading team in the NBA on offense, face the Chicago Bulls who led the loop in defense.

The Lakers are favored in the best-of-seven series, but as their forward Happy Hairston says, "Playoffs are completely different things. Teams play tighter defense."

Los Angeles rolled to a 69-13 regular season record, at one time winning 33 in a row, and they held a 3-1 advantage over Chicago.

The 69 victories bettered by one the mark by the Philadelphia 76ers in the 1966-67 season when Wilt Chamberlain played for the Easterners. Philadelphia went on to win the NBA title that season.

Chamberlain has hauled down 1,572 rebounds for the Lakers this season and averaged 14.8 points per game. Hairston has been the No. 2 man on the boards with 1,045 rebounds.

Guards Gail Goodrich and Jerry West have led the scoring with averages of 25.9 and 25.8 respectively and West led the league in assists with 747.

Jim McMillian fills out the starting five in creditable style with an 18.8 scoring average and 522 rebounds.

While the Lakers averaged 120 points a game, the Bulls held fires to an average of 102.9 and their feat of limiting opponents to less than 100 on 27 occasions was the most since 1954 when the league adopted its 24-second shooting clock.

Bob Love led Chicago in the games against Los Angeles with a 26.5 average while Chet Walker averaged 20.5. The status of Walker and Tom Boerwinkle remained questionable, however, since both suffered injuries on March 21 when the Lakers took a 109-104 decision in Chicago.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — ABC preempted its entire Monday night schedule for four specials in a row—two half-hour actuality reports followed by a couple of pilot programs for action series.

Harry Reasoner, with a camera crew, returned to the small town in Iowa where he grew up. The result was a warm and affectionate portrait of Humboldt, a town of 4,700 people, surrounded by rich farmlands.

There were the healthy children, the pleasant safe streets where "a crime wave is when the police chief catches a kid at a dance with a can of beer." It was the city-trapped citizens idea of paradise. Still, most of the boys and the career-minded girls who talked with Reasoner seemed to want to leave—mostly in search of a challenge.

"Children in Peril" was a study of children who are beaten and broken by their parents. One New York doctor said that abuse by parents probably is the most common cause of death among the very young.

The cool, almost clinical detachment in the handling of the program was wise since the visual treatment of child abuse is shocking and painful. The emphasis was on getting help to the parents, now treated as sick instead of vicious.

The program focused on psychiatric and counseling help, and showed scenes of a meeting of "Mothers Anonymous" as women who had beaten their infants discussed their emotional problems. The program concluded with narrator Marlene Sanders outlining community resources where a child could be treated for injuries or get protection.

The first of the network's double feature was a routine private eye action show. The detecting team is called "Wheeler and Murdoch," the title of the show. It rambled for an hour after producing a dead syndicate boss making off with a million in hot money. The detectives were knocked unconscious a few times, ran around talking to tough characters and finally solved the case.

Jack Warden again is a tough, salt-of-the-earth type as the senior partner. Christopher Stone, the young partner, is not much of an actor, but it matters little since he is handsome.

"The New Healers," which followed, is the pilot for another series about paramedics. NBC already has paramedics on the job in its "Emergency," telling of doctor's helpers who work in the city. The ABC paramedics operate in an area of many people spread over much territory and with one doctor.

Futurity Draws 20 Entries

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The 6th running of the Arkansas Futurity drew 20 entries and was to be run in two divisions today at Oaklawn Park.

Each division had a $7,500-added purse.

Heading the field in the first division of the four-furlong race for 2-year-olds was Mrs. L. R. Speck's Scotch Or Ri, who will have Tony Rini aboard with topweight of 120 pounds.

He was expected to have competition from Sing A Song, who has Jack Fieselman in the irons and also will carry 120, and from J. B. Askew's Om Alo, who will be coupled with Doma Rose.

In the $17,500 eighth race, an allowance event for 3-year-olds over six furlongs, Tudor Warrior, Hunting Cap, Green Country and Gay Hospitality loomed as the favorites.

Tudor Warrior, Hunting Cap, King Diet, Aye Jay Aye, Gungo were topweighted at 122 pounds.

In Monday's $15,000 feature race for 3 and 4-year-olds, Bill Corrigan's Amar Amber fired through along the rail nearing the finish and beat Oh Myrtle by half a length to win.

Amar Amber, with Don Brumfield aboard, paid $5.80, $4.20 and $3.40. Oh Myrtle returned $11 and $6.20 and Mambino paid $9 for show.

For his first winning effort of the year, the 4-year-old gelding finished out the six furlongs in 1:13 3-5 over a slow course.

Two jockeys had winning doubles Monday. J. L. Lively was aboard South Side Boy in the Second and Acco King in the fourth. Brumfield rode Penzip in the third in addition to Amar Amber.

A dead heat in the first race necessitated two daily doubles. Judge M., with W. J. Layland aboard in the first, and South Side Boy in the second, Nos. 4-6, paid $23.80. Two Dozen Roses, ridden by Germain Vasquez in the first, teamed with South Side Boy, Nos. 8-6, to pay $47.40.

Job Yours, Meany Tells Price Board

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany, accused by President Nixon of abandoning the job of controlling inflation, today told Price Commission members that the job is theirs, not his.

"The burden of controlling price inflation must rest with the Price Commission," he told them. He said wages are at a standstill and can't be blamed for recent upward surges in the cost of living.

Meany's testimony was prepared for the opening of commission hearings on the general subject of price controls.

The labor leader repeated his familiar charges that the commission's regulations favor big business and hurt consumers, particularly the poor.

And he added some counter-punches in what has emerged as an election-year brawl between Nixon and Meany.

Last week Nixon said Meany and other labor leaders who left the Pay Board had tried to "torpedo and sink" the administration's anti-inflation effort, and that Meany "walked off the job" of controlling inflation.

"We participated in Phase 2 in good faith," Meany said. "We tried. We didn't fail Phase

Bill Torrey Back on Road

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Torrey, general manager of the National Hockey League's infant New York Islanders, is back on the road today, which is nothing new for him. That's where he's been most of the time since recently accepting the job of assembling the expansion club.

"I've been in 10 or 11 cities in the last week alone," said Torrey, "and some places that aren't even cities, I guess."

Torrey, restricted by the stiff rules set up by his NHL brethren, can do little more than watch and judge the pro and amateur talent that will be available to him when the Islanders and Atlanta stock their franchises at the draft meetings in June.

"I can't sign anybody because I don't have a reserve list to put them on," said Torrey. "And I won't have one until after the draft."

In the expansion draft, the 12 NHL clubs will protect 15 skaters and two goalies. Picks will be made on a claim and fill basis, meaning that when a team loses a player, it may protect another. And no club may lose more than three skaters. That leaves the Islanders and Atlanta the No. 16, No. 18 and No. 20 players to choose from.

Add to that the fact that first year pros—promising prospects like Rick Martin of Buffalo, Gene Carr of the New York Rangers, Jocelyn Guevremont of Vancouver, Marcel Dionne of Detroit, and Guy Lafleur of Montreal, are draft exempt and need not even be protected. That means they won't take up roster room and that gives their teams another spot to use for protecting a player who might otherwise be available.

He said too many segments of the economy are free from price controls, that regulations are too loose and not strictly enforced, that the Price Commission has no members representing consumers and that prices have advanced sharply despite controls.

"It is not enough to hold down wages and expect that to be the solution," he said. "Wages, in fact, are at a standstill. But prices and profits continue upward."

He cited Labor Department figures showing that average hourly earnings of rank-and-file workers went up three cents, to $3.54, from December to February. Meanwhile, consumer prices rose 0.8 per cent, seasonally adjusted.

Defendants Are Added

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — More defendants were added Monday to a lawsuit challenging Arkansas' system of financing public education through local ad valorem taxes.

Those added were Gov. Dale Bumpers, Atty. Gen. Ray Thornton, Education Commissioner Arch Ford and members of the State Board of Education.

The original suit was filed in January by Bobby K. Hayes of Calico Rock.

Hayes' lawyer, Thomas B. Tinnon of Mountain Home, said in his motion to amend the original complaint that the governor and other public officials should be included as defendants because they were directly involved in the distribution of state funds to local school districts.

The suit alleges that the country property tax, from which school districts derive a large portion of their income, discriminates against poorer school districts, and that the equalization formula by which state aid is distributed does not do enough to correct that inequity.

A trial date has not been set.

When you can postpone the play of a key suit to the last few cards you can usually obtain an accurate count.

South notes that his four-card spade suit is duplicated in dummy. He also notes that the queen of clubs is going to be his one problem.

He decides to start with spades. West shows out on the second spade and discards three hearts.

Now South takes the remaining two hearts and notes that East discards two clubs while West follows suit.

At this point, South knows that East must have started with quite a few clubs. He also knows that West started with exactly seven cards in the major suits and East with exactly five.

South can go further with his count. He cashes all the diamonds and East shows out on the third lead.

Now South has a complete count. East held four spades, one heart and two diamonds. That left him with six clubs.

As a check, West held one spade, six hearts and five diamonds. That left him with only one club.

Now South leads a club to dummy's ace. On the second lead of clubs he finesesses against East with complete certainty of success.

Muskie Says Wallace Serving the Big Guy

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer
MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Sen. Edmund S. Muskie has accused George C. Wallace of "serving the big guy," not the average citizen, and urged workingmen to reject the Alabama governor in Wisconsin's presidential primary.

Sen. George McGovern hunted votes on a tour of bowling alleys in blue collar precincts of Milwaukee.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Fears Economic 'Kingdoms'

SILLOAM SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Rep. David Pryor, D-Ark., said Monday he was afraid of "economic kingdoms" such as International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., and that it was time for Congress "to overhaul our basic antitrust laws."

Pryor, one of four Democratic candidates for the U.S. Senate seat of John L. McClellan in this summer's primaries, told Silloam Springs Jaycees that the IT&T case will have served a purpose if it "causes us to re-examine the policies which have allowed business giants to seize economic power at the expense of ordinary businesses and at the expense of the American public."

He said that the 200 largest corporations in the United States controlled 58 per cent of the nation's manufacturing assets.

"... Do these conglomerates operate beyond the reach of laws to which the ordinary businessman is subject?" Pryor asked.

He said he wanted to keep government agencies "small enough and manageable enough that responsibility is clearly assigned."

Pryor, McClellan, Ted Boswell of Bryant and Foster Johnson of Little Rock are seeking the Democratic nomination for the Senate.

campaigning Monday on the border of his Minnesota home, urged in Superior, Wis., improvements to the St. Lawrence Seaway.

And Wallace drew a turn-away crowd in Green Bay to hear his listing of issues with the emphasis on burdensome taxes.

While those four contenders in Wisconsin's April 4 Democratic primary pressed into the final week of campaigning for a pivotal presidential test, Eugene J. McCarthy plugged for two other rivals on the crowded ballot.

McCarthy, who won in Wisconsin four years ago after former President Lyndon B. Johnson quit the White House race, said he would like to see New York Mayor John V. Lindsay and Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York do well in the primary.

The former Minnesota senator said his plug for Lindsay and Mrs. Chisholm didn't mean he was conceding his own chances for victory, and added he still considers himself a serious candidate. He spoke to about 300 students and faculty members at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Muskie sought votes at labor meetings in Milwaukee and Janesville, saying a "blatant bias toward big business" on the part of the Nixon administration prompted top union leaders to quit the Pay Board.

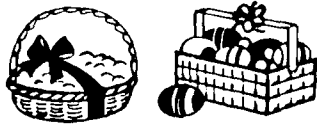

He told steelworkers in Milwaukee that Wallace talks about overhauling taxes to benefit the average man "but George Wallace doesn't have any of the right answers."

"The truth is that George Wallace talks about the little guy, but he has spent his entire time in public life serving the big guy," Muskie said.

Muskie said he would as president reform the tax structure and curb the power of big corporations.

Wallace, who drew more than 1,500 persons to a Green Bay rally Monday night, accused his rivals of "me toism" on such topics as tax reform. He concentrated on the property tax, a sore subject with many Wisconsin voters.

OEO Grant to Pine Bluff

WASHINGTON (AP) — A grant of $147,300 has been approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity to the Jefferson County Economic Opportunity Commission at Pine Bluff.

The money is to finance planning of a comprehensive program of community development in Arkansas, Grant, Lincoln and Jefferson counties in the 12-month period beginning May 1, the office of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said Monday.

British Technicians Kidnaped in Turkey

By NICK LUDINGTON
Associated Press Writer
UNYNE, Turkey (AP) — Thousands of police and army troops combed rugged terrain and cities today for the leftist terrorists who abducted three British technicians from this Black Sea town.

Turkish commandos in the contingent said they expected a full scale gunfight if they catch up with the kidnapers. Both the commandos and the urban guerrillas who abducted the technicians were armed with submachine guns.

The kidnapers, said to be members of the outlawed Turkish peoples Liberation Army, reportedly demanded the release of three comrades whose death sentences have been approved by the president but are pending appeal in court.

One of the kidnapers was identified as Cihat Alptekin, a fugitive accused of complicity in the kidnap-murder of Israeli Consul General Ephraim Elrom last May.

Officials said five abductors kidnaped the technicians Sunday night after entering the apartment of 10 Britons. They bound and blindfolded all of them and took away three, Gordon Banner, 35, Charles Turner, 45, and John Law, 21. The victims are civilian employees of a Turkish air force radar base in Unye.

A Land Rover believed to have been used in the kidnaping was found abandoned in a town 105 miles inland from Unye.

The abduction aroused indignation against the urban guerrillas, whose strength is estimated at a few thousand. In Ankara, former President Ismet Inonu, considered the grand old man of the nation, appealed to all Turks to aid officials in tracking down the kidnapers. He asked the people to mobilize "as if for defense of the motherland."

Inonu revealed that the kidnapers left a note promising to free the Britons if the state frees their condemned leftist friends. But officials said they knew of no such note.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Smoke, but no Fire, Says HE DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I'm in my early 20s, considered good looking, but please don't think me conceited. My first problem concerns the husbands in my apartment house, who are all jealous. My second problem involves girls who insist on paying my way to places I can't afford.

Three times men here have accused me of making it with their wives—who are a lot older than I. I'm a naturally friendly guy, but I keep my distance, even though one woman picks up my mail and brings it to my apartment just so she can have an excuse to see me.

I don't lead girls on at work, but often I find myself at an expensive lounge, with them footing the bill. I can't, on my salary—and I don't do the inviting.

Outside of getting married, which I'm not ready for and can't afford, how can I keep husbands off my back and women down?—CURIOUS FELLOW

DEAR C.F.:

I'd guess that you go all-out to be a great guy so everyone will like you—and women interpret your friendliness as "special interest." Husbands misinterpret it, too. What married man can trust a good looking, personality-plus bachelor?

Marriage isn't the answer, but if you'd get it around that you're semi-engaged, the girls might back off.—SUE

DEAR CURIOUS:

Husbands usually don't get fired up unless there's a bit of smoke. Are you perhaps so carried away with your handsome, debonnaire image that you lead the girls on? Certain older housewives need little encouragement, you know—and eager secretaries likewise.

A word you should add to your vocabulary is, "NO!"—HELEN

DEAR RAP:

I was going steady with this great guy of whom I'm awfully proud. But my folks dislike him cause at first he worked on a trash truck and then he got a job as a short-order cook and dishwasher. They think he'll be a bum, and call him "the jerk." He's only 18 and lots of guys this age don't even have jobs. We were thinking of getting engaged but Dad blew up.

He respects me and would never try anything. He's going into the Air Force soon and wants to learn mechanics. I think that's a good trade, but my parents sneer at what they call "dirty fingernail" work.

Is it so awful for a girl who is aiming at college to love a guy who isn't?—D.D.

Dear D.:

Your parents' attitude may be an almost equal mixture of snobbery and common sense. They shouldn't downgrade an 18-year-old fellow for the work he does, but rather compliment him on his industry. But they might also (wisely) look into the future, sensing that you two wouldn't always be compatible when the chemistry loses some of its fizz.

Stay friendly-but-free until your guy is out of the Air Force.—HELEN

P.S. The following letter might help your cause: DEAR RAP:

My husband and I have nothing in common. I am a college graduate; he is a drop-out. I am idealistic and emotional. He is materialistic and logical. I hate spectator sports; he loves them. I love to dance; he hates it. I like travel; he wants to stay home. When I prefer to argue, he won't say anything. In everything, we seem to be opposite numbers.

Now, in our third year of marriage, we are just as "incompatible," and more deeply in love than ever. We have amazed a lot of people, some of whom believe we must have fantastic sexual attraction for each other. Actually, our secret is: moral values. Lying, cheating, hurtfulness are out. Friendship, trust, honesty, humility and respect are in. These values are the real "us" and this is why our love grows. All else is superficial. MRS. R.R.
